Really? You are funded by the sale of pesticides and regulating it at the same time - and choose to set the standard allowed at 12 times what is recommended by California Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment (OEHHA)?

This sounds like the topic of a great movie where the hero exposes the corruption at the heart of state bureaucracy. Unfortunately such a movie does not yet exist. Maybe you should reverse your position so it is never produced.

Maybe you should reverse your position to save the lives of thousands of vulnerable school children in schools and homes next to the ag fields where this toxic chemical will be sprayed.

Quite sincerely,
